HOUSE MUSIC / DISCO / GROOVE

Monsieur Valero

A life in the groove.

House. Disco. Underground.

A DJ and producer with over 20 years of experience, Monsieur Valero draws his musical world from house, disco and underground classics. His Franco-Spanish identity and his roots in the club culture of the 1990s and 2000s inform a practice built on listening, selecting and mixing, with Chicago and New York as enduring musical references.

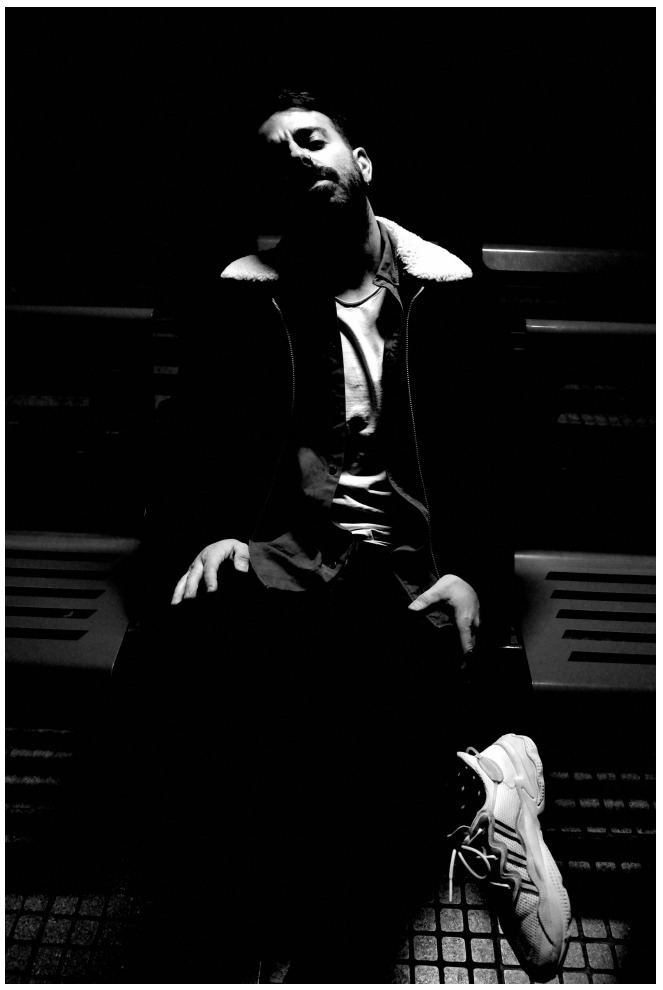

At the heart of his approach is the record itself: its groove, texture and place within a wider sequence. He values analogue warmth and technical precision, using the mix to create continuity while allowing each track to retain its character. Vinyl, often the sole format of his sets, gives a physical dimension to that attention.

A set takes shape through pacing, contrasts and transitions. Energy can build gradually, settle into a groove or change direction without losing its thread. The aim is to give the room time to respond and to turn a succession of records into a shared experience.

He approaches club heritage as a living musical vocabulary. Familiar sounds become material for a personal narrative, guided by curiosity and a close connection with the dancefloor. For him, selection is both a craft and a way of communicating.
